Literature reviews

Preferential flow

- accepted for publication in European Journal of Soil Science

Mitigation strategies and their effectiveness

- Submitted to the Science of the Total Environment

Bound residues

- Paper in preparation for Environmental Science & Technology

Other papers in preparation

Identification of climatic factors regulating pesticide losses to water resources through leaching and drainage

Can a shift in application dates help reduce the transfer of pesticides to water resources?

Planned future dissemination

A special session on FOOTPRINT is scheduled at the XIII Symposium on Pesticide Chemistry 3-6 September 2007, Piacenza, Italy

- > The European project FOOTPRINT
- > Key climatic factors determining loss and max concentrations of pesticides in drainflow and leaching
- > Mitigation strategies to reduce pesticide inputs into gw and sw.
- > Parameterising the preferential flow MACRO for a large number of agro-environmental scenarios
- > Development of an IT platform to undertake large-scale pesticide fate modelling: FOOTPRINT@work
- > Current knowledge and future challenges in considering bound residues in pesticide RA and modelling
- > Development of agronomic scenarios characterising EU agriculture

www.eu-footprint.org

Planned future dissemination

Scientific events in 2007

- > Voluntary initiative (VI), York (UK) - Feb. 2007
- > ACS meeting, Chicago (USA) – Mar. 2007
- > SETAC 2007, Porto (PT) - May 2007

Stakeholder events

- > Contribution to EFITA - European Federation of IT in Agriculture -2007 Conference - Environmental and rural sustainability through ICT
- > Optimising farm inputs, Cambridge (UK), Mar. 2007

www.eu-footprint.org

Planned future dissemination

How to reach stakeholders?

- > National relevant events
- > Short papers on stakeholder journals
- > New leaflet in different languages for major stakeholder' exhibitions

Partners' strategy

- > Sharing of communication material through 'e-project'

Need for a feedback from you

Dissemination and awareness building

3 questions posed

- > Are we doing enough?
- > Are we reaching the target end-user communities?
- > Can you recommend any event we should attend in priority in 2007 or 2008?
